Stir fry product recalled due to health concern

The Kane County Health Department is advising that Versa Marketing Inc. of Fresno, Calif., is recalling 4,089 cases of Fusia Szechuan Stir fry because they have the potential to be contaminated with Listeria monocytogenes.

No illnesses have been reported related to this product. The product was distributed to only Aldi stores.

The affected product was distributed in poly bags in a multi-pack under the following labels codes:

Listeria monocytogenes is an organism that can cause serious and sometimes fatal infections in young children, frail or elderly people, and others with weakened immune systems. Although healthy individuals may suffer only short-term symptoms such as high fever, severe headache, stiffness, nausea, abdominal pain and diarrhea, Listeria infection can cause miscarriages and stillbirths among pregnant women.

The recall was a result of product being tested at retail by the State of Florida which had tested positive for Listeria monocytogenes. The company has ceased distribution of the product and the company and US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) continue their investigation as to what caused the problem. The company is fully cooperating with the FDA.
